Research Project Guidelines

- Open topic, media, form, and style.
- Your research project should engage with selections from the works we have been reading & discussing as well as with works beyond that context.
- Craft a balance between creativity & critique, research & interpretation.
- Adaptations / elaborations / reconfigurations / translations from écrits may contribute.
- For your research materials, include a mix of literary & interdisciplinary works. These should include at least five peer-reviewed sources (articles, books, essays) not already addressed within the scope of our class.
- Provide evidence from your primary and secondary works. Use either MLA or Chicago format for your citations in either a list of works cited, or in notes.
- Two-page proposal and/or outline due on Thursday, May 4.

Project length: 10-12 pages (or the equivalent, depending upon media)

Due: June 8
