

The Underdogs | Program Notes

Episode 1: How can economic justice help us build strong communities?

March 10, 2019

(16 minutes, 58 seconds)

Welcome to another episode of the Underdogs, where we discuss the issues that affect our community from the bottom up.

Today you'll hear from Katherine Zapata (Kat), Sarah Daniels, Sarah Birkhaeuser, and Yi Shi. We want to talk about the policies that create economic injustice, and what each state, region, and city can do to improve their economic policy to ensure that their community is thriving. We've each specialized in a region both far from and close to home to create a holistic view of these issues. We hope you enjoy.
