Opportunity to Assit Nepal Relief Effort

As we all become increasingly aware of the extent of the devastation in Nepal in the wake of the April 25th earthquake, many of us have been looking for opportunities to assist in some way. Our own Dr. Linda Smith is Director of the nonprofit organization Filters for Families. She is organizing a donation campaign through her organization. She is aiming to purchase water filters that will provide long-term access to safe water for distressed families. She is leaving for Nepal on May 19th to deliver the water filters that are purchased through her campaign. Check out the flyer that describes the work that Linda and her organization are doing, along with links to portals for online donations to Filters for Families. If you wish to donate, please follow the instructions in the flyer. For more information please contact Linda at director.linda@gmail.com.

Volunteers Needed for Humanitarian Crisis Simulation on Campus
Sunday, May 24 and Monday, May 25 | Josef Korbel School of International Studies

The Humanitarian Assistance Program at DU's Korbel School of International Studies is seeking volunteers to enact roles such as internally displaced persons, border patrol guards, international and national relief workers, missionaries, etc. for its Humanitarian Crisis Simulation event. This is a great opportunity to practice your acting skills while learning more about humanitarian work and international crisis situations. For more information and to volunteer, contact haprog@du.edu.

Share your Textbooks with Sister Students!

PRC Bookshelf

Do you have old textbooks just sitting on your shelves collecting dust? Ditch the clutter by donating to your sister students! Starting May 2015, bring your gently used textbooks to the marked section of the PRC bookshelf. Need a book for a class? Take what you need, then return it for others to use in future quarters.

Coming Up

Consciously Confronting Sexual Violence

Saturday, May 9th | 8:30 am-4 pm | Chambers Center Garden Room

This Saturday, May 9th from 8:30am-4:00pm, please join us for an in-depth conversation on combating and overcoming sexual violence in our community led by one of the nation's leaders on this critical topic, Anne Munch, at the "Consciously Confronting Sexual Violence" conference in the Colorado Women's College Garden Room.

Anne has 27 years of experience as a career prosecutor and advocate for victims of domestic violence and sexual assault. She also serves as a subject matter expert for the United States Air Force, the U.S. Army, and the U.S. Navy. To learn more about her extensive experience, please visit: www.annemunch.org.

This conference is free and open to community members, professionals, and students, so please feel free to distribute among your networks! RSVP not necessary. Also, please feel free to come and go as well-we would love for you to join us even if you can only come for part of the day. For specific questions, please refer to the attached flyer and/or contact CWC professor Debbie Klein at debbieklein78@gmail.com.

Core Strengths Training

Tuesday, June 2nd | 8 am -12 pm or 1 pm -5 pm | Magnolia Hotel, Denver

The best teams and organizations excel at three critical priorities - People, Performance, and Process. That's because their managers create a culture of accountability - where each person chooses the right strengths to deploy, in every high-stakes situation. Our unique strengths-based approach has helped managers at organizations like IBM, Pfizer, and Volkswagen to foster accountability in their teams. Core Strengths Training: Our manager-level training is a half-day program that gives managers a better way to lead their teams through:

- A Proven, repeatable process to generate lasting accountability
- Deploying the right strengths that are needed to deal with specific high stakes workplace situations

- Practical skills needed to deal with challenging interactions and group performance
- Insight from a personal assessment report detailing each manager's unique approach to people, performance and process.
