

International Studies and Public Policy Internship Newsletter

Important news from Career & Professional Development Office:

If you're taking summer classes this year, consider adding a 2-credit career class to your schedule. We're again offering our popular job & internship search two-credit course online this summer. Re-built from the ground up as an asynchronous (no meeting times) online class for summer quarter,

"The Job & Internship Search" (LDRS 2911) will guide you through the foundational skills that you need for a successful job or internship search, no matter your major or career goals! As a summer quarter course, "The Job & Internship Search" will take place over the course of four weeks, by the end of which you'll feel more confident in your resume writing, networking, and interviewing skills (including video interviewing). This is an excellent opportunity to gain these skills before the school year starts, especially for graduating seniors who want to hit the ground running as they begin their job search in the fall.

Registration details:

- Course Title: "LDRS 2911: The Job & Internship Search"
- Credit Hours: 2
- CRN: 1872
- Schedule Type: Online/Distance, 06/21/2021 – 07/18/2021

Questions about the course or how to register? Please email the instructor, Kyle Inselman at kyle.inselman@du.edu.

Don't forget its registration week,
get your pin deleted
& register for fall quarter!!

In this issue:

- The Job & Internship Search
Summer Class
- Upcoming Events
- Featured Internships
- Spotlight on: Public Service
Weekend 2021

UPCOMING EVENTS

Foreign Service 101

Virtual – Friday, May 21 | 12–1 pm MST

Join Scott Smith, Diplomat in Residence's next "Foreign Service 101: The Basics" session on Friday May 21 at 12h00 noon MDT (please note the time zone). During the session, he will cover the basics of Foreign Service Officer Generalist intake as well as generalist career track selection. There will be ample time for Q&A. For more information and to register, visit PCO.

USA Jobs – Writing your Federal Resume

Virtual – Tuesday, May 25 | 9–10:30 am MST

Preparing a résumé for Federal jobs is unlike creating one for jobs in the private and nonprofit sectors. To do so requires an understanding of the nuances of Federal hiring. We invite you to join a representative of the U.S. Office of Personnel Management to learn strategies for developing and writing a Federal résumé.

For more information and to apply, click here.

USAJOBS[®]
"WORKING FOR AMERICA"

Search Jobs

APSLA
ASSOCIATION OF PROFESSIONAL SCHOOLS OF INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

Best Practices in Applying to Graduate School

Virtual – Wednesday, June 16 | 6–7 pm EST

Each month, APSIA hosts a free webinar with best practices in applying to graduate school. They walk attendees through the basics of selecting a program, putting together an application, paying for school, and more. For more information and to apply, click here.

FEATURED INTERNSHIPS

Intern Protection of Civilians/International Law (for graduating students)

Remote

The Intern–Protection of Civilians/International Humanitarian Law will gain valuable insight into the humanitarian sector and U.S. policy by working directly with InterAction’s Protection team. Overall responsibilities will include monitoring key policy and implementation developments on the protection of civilians in the U.S. and worldwide. The Intern will also provide general administrative and logistical support for meetings and large-scale events. Interns will be encouraged to participate regularly in both internal and external meetings. The specific work of the Intern will also be based upon the individual’s learning and professional goals, as tied to the initiatives of InterAction’s Protection Team within the larger Humanitarian Policy & Practice (HPP) Team.

Application deadline: 5/28/21

For more information and to apply, click here.

UN Global Compact Intern Remote (depending on COVID)

The UN Global Compact offers internship opportunities in its New York office. The UN Global Compact pursues two complementary objectives: making the UN Global Compact and its principles part of business strategy and operations everywhere, and facilitating cooperation among key stakeholders by promoting partnerships and other collective action in support of UN goals. Some of the internship duties will include: conducting research relating to the topic of corporate sustainability, especially on human rights, labor, the environment, and anti-corruption; drafting and editing publications, papers, and other documents; liaising with Global Compact stakeholders on key corporate sustainability topics; supporting the organization of meetings and events; assisting with outreach activities; handling emails and other inquiries; performing administrative tasks as assigned.

Application Deadline: Rolling

For more information and to apply, click here.

NSA Summer Language Program (Summer 2022)

Fort Meade, MD

The Summer Language Program (SLP) is a paid 12-week program that runs from the end of May through mid-August each year. This program is looking for students that can speak the critical languages that we’re looking for. As an intern in the Summer Language Program, you will use your passion for foreign language and strong oral communication, written communication, and critical thinking skills to research, translate, transcribe, report, and analyze foreign intelligence. Your foreign language and English skills will provide key decision-makers with a complete and accurate picture of the context within which the decision is being made (i.e. provide an understanding of the nuance, context, cultural overtones, and dialect in which the communication occurred).

Application Deadline: Rolling deadline till 10/31/21

For more information and to apply, click here.

PUBLIC SERVICE WEEKEND 2021

Sign up for the PPIA Virtual Conference!!

Public Interest Technology (PIT) is a rapidly growing and essentially important field where technology and public policy overlap. Carnegie Mellon University has been a leader in this space for over 50 years, promoting the use of technology to advance the public interest.

Our 2021 Public Service Weekend virtual conference will highlight the rising prominence of PIT and bring together a diverse group of practitioners from across the field—including policymakers, technologists, designers, and leaders—to develop innovative solutions to pressing issues in public policy and equity. This interactive weekend will introduce undergraduate students from a variety of backgrounds to careers and opportunities for graduate-level education in PIT.

- Who is eligible: Rising college juniors and seniors interested in public policy, public interest technology, policy analytics, and related fields
- Students can apply from ANY undergraduate major, including political science, government, the liberal arts, fine arts, and STEM fields.
- Preference will be given to students representing underserved communities from across the United States and/or working towards equity issues.

Most of the conference takes place between Tuesday, July 20 – Tuesday, July 27, 2021. The conference takes place in the evenings on weekdays.

For more information, the conference schedule, and to apply, click here.

Application Deadline: June 20, 2021

You may even be able to win a $300 prize!