PUBLISHED WORKS & PROJECTS

Luminarias de la Ley | *Luminaries of the Law Exhibit*TM, consists of 55 panels that conveys the history of women in the law with individual vignettes of 32 select Luminarias that provide the missing Latina chapter. The exhibit starts with the 1873 case of Bradwell v. U.S. in which the U.S. Supreme Court upheld state law prohibiting women from practicing law and ends in 1980, with the confirmation of the first Hispanic U.S. Supreme Court Associate Justice Sonia Sotomayor. Decade Panels (1900 – 1980) includes statistical data on the small, then increasing number of women lawyers per decade, while describing the cultural and professional barriers they endured:

Early 1900's, Emerging Portias
1920's, Women's Liberation
1930's, Crash of Feminist Ideals
1940's, War Time Opportunities
1950's, Homeward Bound
1960's, Second Wave of Feminism
1970's, Exploding onto the Legal Landscape
1980's, "You've Come A Long Way, Baby"

LEGAL AND MANAGEMENT EXPERIENCE

PRIVATE PRACTICE, 2000-2012; 1992-1995. Practiced primarily as Plaintiffs' counsel (Atencio Law Firm) in employment cases from 1992-1995 (part time practice) and 2000 to 2008 (full time practice), representing city and state public employees and college/university teachers and administrators before administrative tribunals and in federal court. Recruited in 2008 by GCR, LLP (now Garcia Hernandez & Sawhney, LLP), expanding practice to General Counsel and work place investigations for public educational institutions and non-profit organizations.

Sampling of Cases

Bonnie Freeman v. Denver Department of Human Services, Appeal Nos. 40-04, 75-04 (March 3, 2005), hearing before Denver Career Services Hearings Judge; decision overturned termination, reinstated client and all benefits with modification of discipline to one-day suspension.

Carol J. Crumley v. University of Southern Colorado, Federal District Court, District of Colorado (May 7, 2002), jury verdict finding university retaliated against client for filing Title VII case; damages and attorneys' fees awarded.

Professor David E. Sandoval v. University of Southern Colorado, CSA No. AGB 94-01 (1995), trial conducted before state Administrative Law Judge (ALJ). ALJ ordered reinstatement of tenure finding university terminated without cause.

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE (AJL) & DIRECTOR COLORADO DEPARTMENT OF ADMINISTRATIVE HEARINGS, 1996-1999. Presided over hearings and managed cases through each phase of the litigation process; issued summary and substantive orders and final decisions in hundreds of cases in diverse areas of the law, including workers' compensation, civil rights, employment, regulatory (professional licensure cases), human services and election law cases, including issuing order declaring rights of undocumented workers to receive workers compensation benefits in Colorado. As Division Director, managed budget of approximately $500,000 and a statewide staff of 40, including 18 ALJs, clerks and administrative staff, in four offices: Denver, Colorado Springs, Grand Junction and Pueblo. Implemented significant changes mandated by a statewide audit.

HEARINGS OFFICER, CITY AND COUNTY OF DENVER CAREER SERVICES HEARINGS OFFICE, 1993-1996. Conducted hearings on employment complaints by Denver City employees, including classification matters, disciplinary actions, lay-offs, all types of discrimination and retaliation cases, disqualifications, terminations, failing performance reviews and grievances alleging violations of Career Services Rules. Reduced backlog of cases; significantly reduced the time between filing and hearing by implementing expedited motions practice; and changed the abbreviated decision format by issuing detailed findings of fact, a format still in use today.

MANAGEMENT EXPERIENCE

VICE PRESIDENT OF BUSINESS AFFAIRS & GENERAL COUNSEL, DENVER GRAND PRIX AUTO RACE, INC., 1990-1991. Responsible for the legal and certain business matters for the CART company. Three months before the inaugural race, amidst much public controversy and intense media scrutiny, negotiated 100 contracts with private business owners and public employers (city and state) around the race perimeter. One of three managers given ultimate authority to start and stop the Indy car race and first Latina lawyer to hold position and authority in the CART racing industry. In year two, managed and negotiated all vendor and other race agreements. Due to the expense associated with the inaugural race and the City's unwillingness to allow the race to move, the racing company filed bankruptcy. Returned to private practice.

COLORADO BAR ASSOCIATION (CBA), DIRECTOR OF LEGAL AND PUBLIC SERVICES, 1988-1990. Senior staff support to CBA elected leadership and liaison to state's minority bar associations and pro bono offices. Organized the first two minority women lawyer's statewide conferences.

KUVO PUBLIC RADIO STATION, 89.3 FM, (FIRST) DEVELOPMENT DIRECTOR, 1985-1987. In May 1985, joined two other Latinas in premiering KUVO 89.3 as Denver's first public bilingual jazz radio station on August 25, 1985. Created and supervised all of the station's fundraising units, including individual membership, membership drives, corporate and foundation grants and business sponsorships. Conducted the station's first on-air fundraising drive from an egg-shelled lined studio to an unknown audience and had to convince many (individuals, businesses and funders) to invest in an unknown radio product. After two years, generated over $400,000 in revenue and in-kind contributions. Received the American Express "Most Interesting Lives" Award and a prestigious three-year W.K. Kellogg Leadership Fellowship. Served KUVO 20 years later as a member and president of the Board of Directors.

EARLY LEGAL EXPERIENCE

ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL, COLORADO ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE, CRIMINAL APPELLATE UNIT, 1982-1985. Represented the State of Colorado in criminal cases when convictions appealed to the Colorado Court of Appeals and Colorado Supreme Court. Researched, wrote and submitted appellate briefs and presented oral argument before both Courts; prepared petitions for rehearing and certiorari; and reviewed and rendered opinion on the constitutionality of Attorney General opinions, state agency rule opinions and legislative bills. Forty-six (46) cases were published opinions.

People v. Schneekloth, No. 82SA56, Supreme Court of Colorado, 660 P.2d 1293; 1983 Colo. App. LEXIS 518, April 4, 1983

REGINALD HEBER SMITH COMMUNITY LAWYER FELLOWSHIP, 1980-1981. As a Reggie lawyer assigned to Colorado Rural Legal Services, represented low-income clients throughout Colorado. Significant case was the ouster, on residency grounds, of a non-Hispanic school board member on behalf of the Hispanic community (Carmen Graham, lead plaintiff) in Trinidad, Colorado. As a Reggie, required to expend 20% time to community legal issues; worked with passed State Representative Richard Castro on the state's reapportionment. That experience resulted in significant reapportionment involvement from 1981-2011:

- 1981, law clerk for Denver MALDEF Office; tutored by Director Joaquin Avila to create districts through laborious hand calculations as software had yet to be developed; later assisted with the MALDEF brief submitted to the Colorado Supreme Court.
- 1993, Colorado Hispanic Bar Association (CHBA) pro bono co-counsel to the Pueblo Chicano Democratic Caucus. Resulted in adoption by Pueblo City Council of two historic majority-Hispanic city council districts that led to the election of Pueblo's first Chicano city councilman and later, at-large city council seats won by Hispanics.
- 2000-2001, CHBA pro bono co-counsel to the Colorado Hispanic community in the congressional redistricting litigation resulting in the CHBA's Outstanding Corporate Commitment Award (2001) to her law firm.
- May 2011, Colorado Supreme Court Chief Justice appointee to the Colorado Reapportionment Commission. One of 11 Commissioners charged with redrawing the state's 35 senate and 65 house seats. Created 24 Hispanic influence seats (30% or more): 15 house and 9 Hispanic influence senate seats. Plan upheld by the Colorado Supreme Court, In Re Reapportionment of the Colorado General Assembly, Case No. 2011SA282 (December 12, 2011).
