Writing Webinar Series Fall 2019
Online Writing Center Workshops for Graduate Students

Reading & writing for arguments
Thursday, September 19: 5pm MST
Friday, September 20: 12pm MST
Writing successful papers involves identifying and accurately representing arguments in texts you read. Join us for a refresher on reading & writing arguments.

Analyzing & synthesizing in your writing
Thursday, October 3: 5pm MST
Friday, October 4: 12pm MST
From discussion board responses to literature reviews, you need to be able to analyze and synthesize texts. Join us to learn strategies for doing this work.

Using Turabian style
Thursday, October 24: 5pm MST
Friday, October 25: 12pm MST
Join us to learn strategies for managing the complexities of Turabian style, including how to use available resources to do the work of Turabian better.

Taking your editing skills to the next level
Thursday, November 7: 5pm MST
Friday, November 8: 12pm MST
Before turning in your final papers, join us to learn and apply some strategies for becoming a better editor of your own writing.

  - Questions? Write to wrc@du.edu.