Academic Advising

At the Josef Korbel School of International Studies, your designated academic advisor is your degree director. While the Office of Academic and Student Affairs works closely with faculty and can assist you in navigating process and procedural questions, your degree director is the most appropriate point of contact for substantive academic issues and concerns (e.g. academic advising, course planning, program statement approval, etc.). Note: For students that elect to pursue a certificate program, the respective certificate director will be serve as your academic advisor for the certificate portion of your degree.
